How do you find out about what is happening in your area? In your state? In the world? What kind of information interests you? Sports? Current events? Job offerings? Sales? Weather? Comics? News comes to you in many different ways. News reaches large numbers of people through television, newspapers, radio, and the Internet. These are called the media, or mass media. The media business is called journalism. It includes reporting, writing, editing, photographing, or broadcasting the news. The person in charge of this kind of work is an editor.

Which news source is better?

For a long time, the daily newspaper was the best way to get news. But that has changed. Now there are many ways to find out what is happening. Your choice depends on what you want to know.

Fact or Opinion?

What is important is whether the news you get is true. Not everything you read or hear is true. Sometimes information is biased. It favors one or the other side in an argument, situation, sport, etc. Good journalism is neutral or unbiased. It deals in facts – things that are true. Still, there is also room for opinions to be expressed. An opinion is what a person thinks, or how he or she feels about something.

Examine the following statements. Identify them as fact or opinion by checking one box ☑. If you are unsure, place a question mark (?) between the two choices.

Was that hard?

Was there a statement or two where you had trouble choosing? Select one statement and explain on the next page why it was hard to decide.

I had trouble deciding about ____________________________________________ because ____________________________________________________________

Is it true?

When you are not sure if something is true or not, try to verify the information. This means to check to see if it is true. Do not believe everything you hear or read. It may be biased, an opinion, or totally false. Learning to tell the difference is important in becoming an informed person.

News Articles and Reports

Newspaper articles or radio and television reports tell about what is happening around town, in the state, the country, or the world. News articles or reports just tell the facts. They do not give an opinion.

Where do you get your news?

Consider what news topics are important to you. How do you get this information? Fill in this chart with the different kinds of news you look for. Tell where you get each kind of news – the source. Then decide whether that source is reliable. Can it be trusted? Can you rely on it to tell the truth? Does that source give you facts or opinions? Is it biased? Mark any boxes that relate to each kind of news. Place a Y for yes, N for no, or question mark (?) if you are not sure. The first two are filled in as an example, but you can change them if you want.

Some topics you may want to add to the chart are:

- job openings
- current events
- government
- new businesses
- crime
- entertainment

How about the weather?

Most media give a weather forecast. This tells you what to expect that day and in the next few days. It may be a local forecast, and also tell what is happening around the country. Look at the map of the United States. Can you locate where you live? The key underneath the map tells what the different symbols mean. Answer the questions on the next page based on this forecast map.
11. What is the forecast for the Northwest? ______________________________

12. How many different types of weather will happen in the United States?
____________________________________________________________________

13. Where will it snow? ________________________________________________
Now look at the chart with the five-day forecast below and answer the questions.

14. Which day will be the hottest? What temperature is forecast?

_____________________________________________________________________

15. Which night will be the coolest? What temperature is forecast?

_____________________________________________________________________

16. Choose one day and tell the difference between the high and low temperatures for that day.

Classified Advertising

The Classified Ads in the newspaper are called that because they are grouped (classified) by topic sections. These notices are written by people who want to sell something or have a message printed in the newspaper or posted online. For a small fee, anyone can buy space in the classifieds.

Typical sections in the classifieds include:

- Help Wanted (job opportunities)
- Automobiles for Sale
- Real Estate (homes, apartments, farms/land, and businesses for rent or sale)
- Stuff (furniture, electronics, musical instruments, sporting goods, etc.)
- Sales, Auctions, and Shows
- Pets for Sale
- Lost and Found
- Personals (thank you notes, prayers, good wishes, tickets for sale, ways to meet people with common interests, etc.)

Classified Ad Abbreviations

Because the cost of classified ads is based on number of words and amount of space used, people use as few words as possible in their messages. Words are shortened and abbreviations are used. Words such as a and the are not used.

Example: Employment

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Abbreviation</th>
<th>Definition</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FT</td>
<td>full time</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PT</td>
<td>part time</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OT</td>
<td>overtime</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>cust.</td>
<td>customer</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>avail.</td>
<td>available</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>yrs.</td>
<td>years</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>exp. pref.</td>
<td>experience preferred</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>co.</td>
<td>company</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DL</td>
<td>driver’s license</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>min.</td>
<td>minimum</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Here are some examples of ads that you might see. Can you figure out what they are saying?

HOTEL: Housekeepers. PT positions. Must be avail wknds. Exp. pref., but will train. Some OT.

What it really means is:

Hotel housekeepers are needed. These are part-time jobs. You must be available to work on weekends. We would prefer people who have done this kind of work before, but we can also teach you how to do it. You may have to work some overtime.

’88 Chevy ext cab PU, orig ownr, 2WD, 230K miles, $2K OBO.

What it really means is:

1988 Chevrolet, two-wheel drive, extended cab pickup truck is for sale by the original owner. It has 230,000 miles on it. The owner is asking for $2000, but will take the best offer he gets.
Now you try!

Write a brief ad for something you would like to sell, or have published in the classifieds.

Let’s review. Respond to these statements based on what you learned in this lesson.

17. Explain what a journalist does.

18. List the different kinds of media that people go to for news.

19. Tell what different kinds of topics are included in the classifieds.

20. Describe the differences between fact, opinion, bias, and truth.
